EDITOR'S BOTTOMLINE

Caste is a cornucopia of contradictions. It decides the fate of an election but not the result. Now, selectivity is stigma and stature is sublime. Indian elections are a Rubik's Cube of caste coalitions, social engineering and cult credibility. For years, top psychologists, political pundits, master manoeuvres and charismatic captains have been grabbing laurels for predicting and providing the winning formula. The poll bazar is teeming with quantum quacks selling miraculous formulations and alternative scenarios of desired denouement in the election carnival. But it wasn't Narendra Modi's backward caste label that created electoral records but his mojo as a leader with a singular vision and mission. He has nearly demolished caste connectivity in India barring a couple of Southern States.

From the Centre to the States, it is a leader's style and substance that determines political fortunes, not his party's political panorama. Castes sustain entitlements. Swami Vivekananda once said: "Caste system had grown by the practice of the son always following the business of the father." Unless the sons and daughters who inherit their father's business acquire an inclusive identity, they will go out of business sooner in NaMo's new version of Atmanirbhar Bharat.

World's most impressive buffet !

Narbonne: Les Grands Buffet à Narbonne is a unique all-you-can-eat buffet in Narbonne, France, where one can stuff his/her mouth with the most decadent dishes of French cuisine, in a luxurious environment and without breaking the bank.

At the Les Grands Buffet in Narbonne, a unique all-you-can-eat-buffet only serves the best dishes from lobsters to foie gras and cassoulet. Since opening its doors in 1989, Les Grands Buffet has been committed to preserving the tradition of "French Serving", the way that royals and the French aristocracy held their great banquets. It basically involves serving all the dishes at the same time in the form of an eye-catching buffet and inviting guests to choose whatever they like. Only that's kind of tough to do when faced with choosing from literally hundreds of food items, including 111 types of dishes and 70 varieties of wine.

This woman is world's tallest bodybuilder

Rotterdam: An athlete from the Netherlands who stands at 5 feet and11.92 inches has been declared the tallest female bodybuilder in the world by Guinness World Records.

Maria Wattel, 41, said her friend suggested she apply for the Guinness World Record after he was verified as the tallest male bodybuilder in the world.

Wattel said she began bodybuilding at age 19 and started to compete in March 2005. She said competing posed a challenge due to her height.

"To be recognised by Guinness World Records was a big surprise, but it's a very good surprise. Being tall and female and working as a bodybuilder is immensely hard and tough," she said.

- *Many popular ingredients and dishes are borrowed: Potatoes, tomatoes and chilies didn't originate in Indian cuisine. Bogadi Lake Breaches

Roads flooded; Vehicles wade through water; MCC's Abhaya team rescues calf from open drain at J.C. Nagar

Motorists wading through the water-logged Bogadi-Hinkal Ring Road and Bogadi-Mysuru Road this morning.

Mysuru, Oct. 26 (RK,RKB & BCT)- A large number of houses and streets of Mysuru were inundated early this morning after the boundary wall (lake bund) of Mariyappana Kere (popular as Bogadi Lake) off the Ring Road breached at two places. The breach occurred at 4 am and it could have caused major damage if at all it had occurred when the traffic on the Ring Road was heavy after 8 am.

Motorists at Bogadi Signal Circle and towards the Ring Road were greeted with knee-deep water forcefully flowing onto the huge storm water drain near a hotel after the lake breach. So heavy was the water flow that many two-wheelers did not take the risk of entering the stretches. Later, the Kuvempunagar Police banned two-wheelers and allowed only four-wheelers and heavy vehicles.

Mariyappana Kere is a historic Lake near Bogadi and the breach exactly occurred at the Southern and Western part of the Lake. The Lake earlier had many Raja Kaluves and as such, water automatically flowed into the Lingambudhi Lake. Now with development, widespread constructions, layouts and multi-storeyed buildings have come up on the Raja Kaluves, blocking the natural flow of water.

Also, the wide Lake has been encroached upon by real estate sharks. As soon as the breach was reported, Kuvempunagar Police rushed to the spot and banned cyclists and two-wheelers from using the road. None of the irrigation department, public works department, taluk officers and Gram Panchayat officers or elected members had visited the spot even after 12 noon.

Even if they had come, nothing could have been done as the water was in full force. The bund could be restored only after the water receded and if at all it rains again, the Lake will further breach, said local residents.

Widespread rain woes

Widespread destruction has been reported from many areas of the city clearly exposing the inability of the MCC to handle such a situation. Tree-falls, water-logged roads, water and sewage entering homes and knee-deep dirt water inside houses were reported.

While three trees came crashing down at Chamundipuram, Krishnamurthypuram and at Vijayanagar 2nd Stage, Srirampura 3rd Stage residents bore the misery of water entering their houses. More than 100 houses in Ashwini Choultry area, Devaiahanahundi Main Road and surrounding areas were affected.

452 mm rainfall in October

According to reports from Karnataka State Natural Disaster Monitoring Centre, till Oct. 26 (today) from Oct. 1, 2021, 452 mm rainfall has been recorded in Mysuru. In 1994 — 27 years ago — Mysuru district had received 482 mm rain in October.

Till 8 am today (24-hour data), it rained 33.4 mm in Mysuru taluk closely followed by K.R. Nagar with 30.8 mm. H.D. Kote received 2.4 mm, Saragur 9.6 mm, Hunsur 20 mm, Nanjangud 3.2 mm and Periyapatna recorded 12.4 mm. There has been no rain in T. Narasipur.

'It was H.D. Deve Gowda who instilled confidence in depressed Siddharamaiah'

Mysuru, Oct. 26 (PM&DM)- Maintaining that it was former Prime Minister H.D. Deve Gowda who instilled confidence in Siddharamaiah, when he was in political distress, former Chief Minister H.D. Kumaraswamy (HDK) rubbished opposition leader Siddharamaiah's claims that he (Siddu) was instrumental in the growth of JD(S).

Kumaraswamy was speaking at a media interaction organised at Mysuru District Journalists Association (MDJA) here on Sunday.

Pointing out that Siddharamaiah came to JD(S) Supremo H.D. Deve Gowda's house 'Anugraha' in Bengaluru after he lost from Chamundeshwari Constituency in the 1999 Assembly polls and said that he wanted to quit politics, Kumaraswamy said that Deve Gowda pacified Siddu by instilling confidence in him and also asked him to continue in politics. Perhaps Siddharamaiah may have forgotten this, he noted.

Maintaining that Siddharamaiah, when he was in the JD(S), used to come for party rallies only after all the arrangements were made, Kumaraswamy recalled an incident where Siddharamaiah had initially refused to attend a party rally at National College Grounds simply for the reason that his photo had not appeared in banners. Recalling that Siddharamaiah became the Deputy Chief Minister in the Congress-led Coalition Government in 2004 after no party had gained an absolute majority in the Assembly polls, Kumaraswamy contended that it was Siddharamaiah who walked out of the JD(S) after forming his own 'AHINDA' outfit.

Former CM H.D. Kumaraswamy, who visited Rammanahalli village in Mysuru taluk on Sunday, was taken on road show by Party workers. He was accompanied by MLA Ashwin Kumar, JD-S leaders Madegowda, Beerihundi Basavanna, Kempanayka, Devarahalli Somashekar, former Mayor M.J. Ravikumar and Corporator Shobha.

Highlighting his plans for the 2023 Assembly polls, Kumaraswamy said that the party is working on coming to power on its own by winning 123 seats.

Asserting that the JD(S) is not seeking the help of noted poll strategist Prashant Kishor, the JD(S) leader said that the party is banking on youths for winning the polls. Admitting that the party had failed in its organisation over the past 12 years, Kumaraswamy regretted for having joined hands with the Congress for forming the Government in the State post 2018 Assembly polls. Stressing that it was the JD(S) which announced farm loan waiver, he said that the main focus of the party is the forthcoming Assembly polls. JD(S) has already identified the party candidates for 126 Assembly segments, he added.

Referring to Siddharamaiah's remark that JD(S) party was indeed JD(F), meaning Janata Dal Family, Kumaraswamy wondered whether Siddharamaiah's Congress party can be called as SF, meaning Siddharamaiah Family as the Congress gave ticket to Siddu's son Dr. Yathindra Siddharamaiah from Varuna Assembly segment.

Arguing that the Congress has no right to label the JD(S) as a family party, as the Congress itself has been a dynastic party for decades, Kumaraswamy questioned whether the Congress had no leader other than Dr. Yathindra to contest from Varuna.

Coming back to his own party affairs, Kumaraswamy, referring to the issue of dissident party MLA G.T. Devegowda, said that the JD(S) top brass will have to pay heed to what his (HDK) son Nikhil and G.T. Devegowda's son G.D. Harish Gowda together decide on continuance of GTD in the party.

Maintaining that GTD is not in touch with him for the past two years, Kumaraswamy asserted that he does not know the present stand of GTD and he can only answer when the issue comes up to him. Asserting that Nikhil and G.D. Harish Gowda are good friends, he contended that both of them had darshan of Goddess Chamundeshwari atop the Chamundi Hill.

Probably they have met to discuss Nikhil's cinema plans, he said adding that he does not know much about the talks they had.

Referring to Hangal and Sindagi by-polls that are due to be held on Oct. 30, Kumaraswamy expressed hope that the JD(S) would win both the seats. Lashing out at Congress MLA Zameer Ahmed Khan, who had accused JD(S) of receiving money bags and fielding Muslim candidates in both the Assembly segments only with the purpose of helping the BJP, Kumaraswamy said that Zameer's words carry no weight and as such it is better to ignore him.

Asserting that he does not have to answer to Zameer's charges, Kumaraswamy maintained that he never misused his father's (H.D. Deve Gowda) position as the Chief Minister and Prime Minister, either for his personal or for monetary gains.

Kumraswamy also wanted Zameer to revisit his past when he struggled to eke out a livelihood. He further alleged that both the ruling BJP and the Congress were spending huge sums of money for the by-polls.

MDJA President S.T. Ravikumar, General Secretary M. Subramanya, office-bearers Rangaswamy and Anurag Basavaraj were present.

Prof. G.K. Govindarao's campaign helped Siddharamaiah win 2006 by-poll: Writer

Mysuru, Oct. 26 (SPN&DM)- Maintaining that Prof. G.K. Govindarao's campaign helped Siddharamaiah win the bitterly contested Chamundeshwari by-polls in 2006, writer and critic Prof. Nataraj Huliyar said that, however, Prof. Govindarao kept a distance from Siddharamaiah after that.

He was speaking at the 'Nudi Namana' event organised by Janamana theatre group in commemoration of Prof. G.K. Govindarao, who passed away recently, at Kirurangamandira in Kalamandira premises on Sunday.

Pointing out that G.K. Govindarao, who as an English Professor, was well-versed in teaching Shakespeare's plays, Nataraj Huliyar said that Prof. Govindarao, who was also a versatile actor, always strived to bring youths who were deprived of education and knowledge, to mainstream society.

Former Rangayana Director Janardhan (Janni) offering floral tributes to the portrait of Prof. G.K. Govindarao at Nudi Namana event at Kirurangamandira in Kalamandira premises on Sunday as writer Prof. Nataraj Huliyar, theatre artiste K.R. Sumathi and writer N. Diwakar look on.

Recalling that Janardhan (Janni) and Prof. G.K. had played opposite roles in Prof. U.R. Ananathamurthy's well-known play Samskara, he opined that the scenes from the play are educative to the youths of today.

Asserting that 'Intellects' are also in fields such as Literature, Judiciary, Medical and Engineering, he said that, however, those in social sectors are generally called as intellects as they are more visible outside. An integrated and inclusive nation can be built if all intellects come together on a single platform, he added.

Lauding the contribution of Prof. Govindarao for the welfare of the society, Nataraj Huliyar said that the Professor had analysed the then Prime Minister Indira Gandhi during Emergency and as well as current Prime Minister Narendra Modi. Prof. Rao, also a popular actor, was always ready to interact with Pejawar Seer Sri Vishweshatheertha Swamiji, despite having severe differences with him, he added.

Prof. Govindarao's last work 'Gandhijiyavara Upavaasagalu Matthu….' was released on the occasion. Janamana theatre group performed 'Dopdi', a play based on Mahashwetadevi. Earlier, floral tributes were offered to the portrait of Prof. Govindarao.

Neglected Park in Vijayanagar turns bane for residents

Sir,

There is a big strip of compounded land between Vijayanagar Water Tank Circle and Kannada Sahitya Parishat Road (near Vidyavardhaka College). This huge space is now used as an open garbage dump, open debris dump and even as urinals.

The large space is not just an eyesore but is also creating lot of inconvenience to residents living closeby.

Packs of dogs have made this a comfortable hangout, rats / rodents have been breeding here at alarming rate and are now overflowing to close by residential area (recently one car electricals were savoured by rodents in the neighbourhood).

As this land is just below the high-tension power cable, no other activity other than a Park is possible. The neighbouring strip of Park is converted into a popular 'Food Street' and here too there is rat infestation. Needless to say, such huge number of rats can trigger unwanted diseases.

On behalf of the residents, I request the authorities to convert this land to a useful space and probably make it a major attraction in the area.

Chamarajanagar Medical College Hospital begins clinical service

Chamarajanagar, Oct. 26 (SS & DM)- Days after it was inaugurated by the President of India, the Government Chamarajanagar Medical College Teaching Hospital began its clinical service to the public on Monday.

President Ram Nath Kovind had inaugurated the Hospital on Oct. 7, which event was attended by Karnataka Governor Thaawarchand Gehlot, Chief Minister Basavaraj Bommai and other dignitaries.

Medical services such as OPD (Out Patient Department), IPD (In-Patient Department), Surgeries etc., are now available in the Hospital. Barring COVID treatment, Paediatric section and Maternity section, all other medical services that were hitherto available at the District Hospital, are now available at this Hospital, which is located at Yedabetta Foothill in the outskirts of Chamarajanagar town.

Speaking to Star of Mysore, the Medical College Dean and Director Dr. G.M. Sanjeev said that the Teaching Hospital is constructed at a cost of Rs.166.5 crore.

Stating that the Hospital is a five-storeyed one including the ground floor, he said that the Hospital has a built-up area of 30,728 Sq.Mts.

Pointing out that importance will be given for maintenance of cleanliness, Dr. Sanjeev said that it is the responsibility of everyone to maintain a hygienic environment in the Hospital.

Noting that people may find the location of the Hospital inconvenient for them as it is located in the outskirts of the town, he said that the serene environs of the Hospital will provide some sort of a relief for the patients. However, the people will get adjusted to the distance with the passage of time, he said adding that the Hospital will have added facilities in the days to come.

'I am the glorious Past. Leave me alone,' says the Pyramid Sphinx

Yesterday's Deccan Herald had carried a pictorial item under the column 'World at a glance' which interested me. It was about the Great Pyramids of Giza, near Cairo, Egypt. Since I had visited these Pyramids, I was naturally interested. The picture with caption which is self-explanatory is produced above.

I thought it is going to be a permanent sculpture to remain there. If so I was not impressed. The sculpture rather rhetorically called 'Together' (whatever its meaning, hidden or not) is by Italian sculptor Lorenzo Quinn, the son of my most favourite and loved actor of my college days Anthony Quinn (remember the film 'Zorba The Greek' and many classics?).

The sculpture could be a masterpiece and the moral or value it represents may be known only to God and its creator! Two open palms coming together. Must be huge, gigantic, installed at that Giza desert and the three Pyramids are seen through that sculpture in the picture.

Since I have visited these Pyramids and also the famous Sphinx close to it, including the Sound and Light Show, I have a canny feeling that this sculpture should not have been there. It is a foreign, external and modern construction of a sculpture in an area where for centuries stood these Pyramids facing and challenging the vagaries of nature. Imagine, we have seen mountains moving and destroyed or destabilised by havoc caused by the nature's fury of rain, wind, volcano, earthquake and such. But these Pyramids have remained there, with some wear and tear so to say, over 4,591 years till now. Therefore, it is to be seen without any interference from other modern structures around, as if mocking at these most ancient surviving monuments.

Some modern men with power and creative genius behave like monkeys and interfere with their surroundings of great civilisational importance visited by millions of people every year. This is an unwanted interference and earlier undone good for these ancient monuments and iconic institutions.

Fortunately, it is a saving grace that it is there temporarily in an international art exhibition that began on Oct. 21, 2021 at the Great Pyramids of Giza and their surrounding plateau.

This reminds me of another cultural atrocity, nay vandalism in Paris. I am talking about the world famous museum of art and sculpture the Louvre Palace in Paris.

Here you have an ugly structure called Louvre Pyramid right in the main courtyard surrounded by three smaller Pyramids. It was made by glass and steel and stands out like a sore thumb refusing to blend with that grand imposing massive heritage Palace.

Of course, man needs a justification for every crime he commits. Here the justification was that this Pyramid and its underground lobby beneath were created as imperative due to inadequate space at the entrance with the management unable to handle the tourist traffic — the visitors. Now the throngs of visitors are smoothly regulated before they are allowed to ascend into the main Louvre building. I personally felt, after looking at it, that instead of this monstrosity the authorities could have had a structure over the same space that would blend harmoniously and aesthetically with the main Palace building without disturbing the basic heritage character of the Louvre Palace.

It is said war is a very serious matter to be left entirely in the hands of Generals. Similarly, the issues (or problems) relating to managing these ancient monuments or iconic institutions like Louvre Palace should not be left entirely in the hands of the Government and the architect. Having said this let me recall a minor episode of this kind that happened in our city many years ago.

The entrance arch of Dasara Exhibition Grounds now.

Charles Correa was a reputed architect of our country decorated with Padma Vibhushan. This speaks about his name, fame and recognition, as 'India's Greatest Architect.' The influence of his work on modern urban Indian architecture was immense.

He was asked to design an annexe to the iconic heritage building on Lalitha Mahal Palace road where ATI is housed. The buildings here are all with tiled roof and of only ground floor. Here he ensured that his new design blended with the existing heritage buildings and everybody admired his genius.

So pleased the authorities were, they asked him to design the main gate for the Exhibition Grounds at Doddakere Maidan right opposite the Eastern Gate of the imposing Mysore Palace.

Soon the gate appeared with a matter-of-fact brick and mortar structure sans any ornate design with two-stepped wings on either side. So ordinary looking in front of the imposing Palace main gate, many aesthetes protested. Star of Mysore too wrote strongly about it. And some asked: Do you know the stature of the architect?

Be that as it may, as I remember, it was Veerappa Moily, the then Chief Minister, who took the call and got a new arch gate made that we see today.

What can the people do in such situations? After all, it is the attitude of some to believe they know the best and they are always right. My way or no way. EGO is the first cousin of a man of political power and creative genius. *Amen.

KRS Dam

Hence, people living on both banks of the River and on low-lying areas of River Cauvery are cautioned to move to safer places along with their livestock and also take all precautionary measures for the safety and security of their lives and properties.

With an inflow of 19,341 cusecs recorded at 6 am today, the water level at KRS Dam has reached 123.40 ft. as against the maximum level of 124.80 ft. The reservoir is likely to reach its maximum capacity this evening or by tomorrow morning, if the inflow to the reservoir remains the same or increases.

Following copious rains since a couple of days in Cauvery River catchment areas, the inflow to KRS Dam had increased resulting in the level of the water going up day by day.

As the level is reaching its maximum, the Cauvery Neeravari Nigam officials may release the water to the river and in case a large quantity of water is released from the KRS Dam, there is a fear of Ranganathittu Bird Sanctuary getting flooded which would force the authorities to suspend boating services.

Meanwhile, Cauvery Neeravari Nigam Limited (South Zone) Chief Engineer Shankaregowda, speaking to Star of Mysore over the phone this morning said that about 20,000 cusecs water is flowing to KRS Dam which may result in floods. People living near the banks of the River are cautioned not to take their cattle to the River or go to the River to fetch water, he added.

Pointing out that KRS Dam may reach its full capacity soon, Shankaregowda said that a flood warning has been issued to the villagers. He further said that the inflow and outflow would be balanced after the reservoir is full and added that the higher officials would take a call on the Chief Minister's bagina programme.

Gangothri students stage snap stir

Mysuru, Oct. 26 (PM&DM)- Accusing University of Mysore (UoM) authorities of failing to provide food even after weeks of start of classes and subsequent opening of hostels, several students staying in Post-Graduate Hostels in Manasagangothri campus staged a snap stir in the campus this afternoon.

The protesters charged UoM authorities of providing food to only students who are appearing for the exam, while depriving the facility to other students.

Meanwhile, UoM Student Welfare Officer Ramachandra, rubbishing the allegations of protesters, told SOM that UoM is providing food only for admitted students and exam candidates.

Asserting that many outside students are consuming food at the PG Hostels and this has deprived genuine hostel students of their entitled food, Ramachandra said it is wrong on the part of the students to resort to stir.

Bogadi Lake Breaches: Roads water-logged

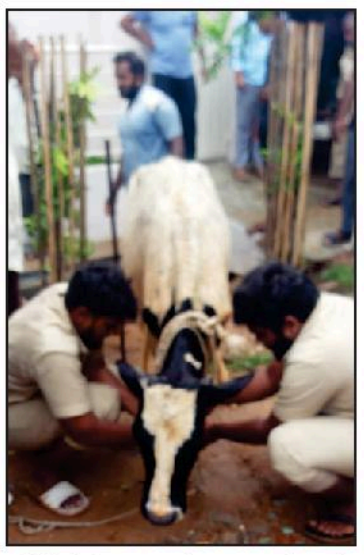
Similarly, water had entered into many houses at Kuvempunagar M-Block, Aishwarya Layout, Surya Layout, Kalyangiri, Bannimantap HUDCO Layout and other low-lying areas. Former MLA M.K. Somashekar visited many places at Srirampura and Kuvempunagar asking the MCC workers and engineers to take up the task of clearing the clogged drain immediately.

Calf rescued from drain



In a noble act, the Abhaya-1 team of the Mysuru City Corporation (MCC) rescued a calf that had fallen into an open drain at J.C. Nagar this morning. The calf had strayed into the area that was covered in water, searching for grass.

It fell to the drain at J.C. Nagar Third Cross and passers-by who saw this alerted the MCC Control Room and the Abhaya team led by Manjunath managed to save the calf after a struggle of more than one-and-a-half hours. The animal was pulled out with the help of ropes and clothes after men got into the drain.

Against all odds, the Founder of City's Bharath Cancer Hospital becomes an Achiever

By Bhamy V. Shenoy

The book "Excellence Has No Borders" is by our own Mysurean, Dr. B.S. Ajaikumar, Founder of Bharath Cancer Hospital. This was released during the famous Jaipur Literary Festival on January 23, 2020.

I need to make a full disclosure. I know Dr. Ajaikumar since 1989 when he laid the foundation stone for the Cancer Hospital. Ever since I have been associated in small ways with many of the social activism. Still a few years back when a family member of cancer patient complained about the treatment at his Hospital, I as a consumer activist had to raise some inconvenient questions with Dr. Ajaikumar.

I was not happy with the response I got at that time despite knowing him so well. However after reading the book, I have a totally different perception of his contribution. My reaction depicts the human frailty. Often we tend to judge accomplished persons or leaders based on their perceived one wrong thing and ignore all their great contributions.

This book has received glowing praise from Justice M.N. Vekatachaliah, former Chief Justice of India; Shashi Tharoor, MP and author of several books; Kiran Mazumdar Shaw, well-known industrialist, Dr. Devi Shetty, famous surgeon and many others.

It was an easy reading book while being a page turner. I finished reading in less than two days since my wife was also competing with me to read it. The book starts with two shocking events — author losing big fortune (20 million dollars) because of the dot-com bust of 2000 and wondering how he would take care of his employees back home and a call from India informing him about the need to admit his son to ICU within few hours of reaching Chicago. His only son (he has three daughters) who is suffering from rare genetic muscle-wasting disorder (Duchenne muscular dystrophy) had fallen from the wheelchair. In three hours, Ajai was back to the airport to return to India.

It is amazing to learn how a person with just a fresh medical degree lands in the US in 1975 with immigration papers (it was easy to immigrate to the US), completes his Radiation Oncology Residency at famous medical college of University of Virginia and Fellowship in Mecca of Cancer Research M.D. Anderson in Houston getting the praise from his bosses and colleagues. It is thrilling to read how he got these offers in the very last minute as last dates were closing and often by pure luck.

Title: "Excellence Has No Borders":
Author: Dr. B. S. Ajaikumar
Year: 2020
Pages: 188
Price: Rs. 699
Publisher: Portfolio

As Ajai was putting roots in the US, unlike most Indians, he was yearning to return to his homeland and serve the poor in his chosen field of cancer treatment. How I wish there were many Indians like Ajai who inspired by Swami Vivekananda's urging that "So long as the millions live in hunger and ignorance, I hold every person a traitor who, having been educated at their expense, pays not the least heed to them" will payback to their homeland.

The book will be of interest to just about every one since here is a life story discussed in all frankness (often I was recalling Mahatma Gandhi's "My experiment with Truth") of parental preference to some child, usual sibling rivalry and misunderstanding. However for future entrepreneurs the book will be a source of inspiration as Ajai is a "doctorpreneur" par excellence.

He succeeded in taking up challenges of several cancer centres which were losing money. There are lessons to learn for entrepreneurs the way he raised funds from venture capitalists, private equities, investment banks and investors. Many perceptive professors of management, sociology and economics are likely to recommend this book to their students to find out how Ajai succeeded despite all odds. For most students the book will show how even an ordinary student can achieve his or her dream with hard work and grit.

The book disproves the long held view of most Indians that it is impossible to build and manage an institution without bribing. If only Ajai had paid bribe in 1988, he could have got an attractive 15 acres plot on Nanjangud road. When his staff went on strike at his non-profit Bharath Cancer Hospital, with courage and determination he succeeded in resolving it without bribing anyone.

Today Ajai has more than 22 cancer centres including one in Africa which he developed without giving a single rupee bribe. I am sure that there will be many who will doubt the veracity of this stunning assertion.

The book also proves the aphorism "it is only the busy people who have all the time to do the right things." Despite being a Chairman of a publicly held HealthCare Global, he has found time to start "International Human Development and Upliftment Academy" to help 15,000 self-help group women in Gundlupet, a think tank, "Antardhwani" to promote India's development and a school in Mullur with all infrastructure to produce professionals. Unfortunately, this gets a brief discussion in the Epilogue.

No review could be complete without making some critical comments. One should not expect to read flowery or great literary English in the book. I could not figure out why the book has the title of "Excellence Has No Borders." Is it to show that Ajai has succeeded in bringing the latest technology and expertise to help cancer patients in a country like India with poor infrastructure and extreme poverty and demonstrated that excellence has no borders?
